CAREER MAPPING LUNCH & LEARN

10/3

Interested in planning your research path? This workshop is for early-career and mid-career faculty to work in peer groups to develop strategies for intentionally navigating a teacher-scholar trajectory. Topics to be covered: research focus, identifying funding agencies, career timelines, and more! Noon - 1:00PM, lunch provided.

FELLOWSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

10/10

Come learn about OGSR's fellowship listing, hear from other faculty who have won fellowships and learn about the possibilities! Noon - 1:00PM, lunch provided.

MANAGING YOUR AWARD AT TCNJ

11/6

If you have won an award or if you are anticipating winning a grant competition, join us for this closer look at post award management, you'll be glad you did! Noon - 1:00PM, lunch provided.

GETTING STARTED WITH GRANT WRITING

11/14

This workshop is designed for faculty who want to strengthen their technique in developing competitive proposals. Noon - 1:00PM, lunch provided.

NSF BROADER IMPACTS AND RUI IMPACT STATEMENTS

11/21

If you anticipate submitting an NSF proposal in the future, it's important to know how to craft a strong Broader Impact and Intellectual Merit section. Included in this presentation is an introduction to NSF's Research at Undergraduate Institutions program/statement. Noon - 1:00PM, lunch provided.

FACULTY WRITING EVENTS

Ongoing

SHARED SPACE WRITING GROUP: FALL 2024 and/or SPRING 2025, Wednesdays 9:30AM-Noon

A weekly gathering of TCNJ faculty who write together via Zoom. Interested? Email coordinator Elizabeth Borland (Sociology), borland@tcnj.edu

Ongoing

SCHOOL OF SCIENCE WRITING GROUP

This group welcomes School of Science faculty and meets regularly to create space and accountability to promote progress on writing projects. Sessions will begin with a brief goal-setting exercise followed by uninterrupted social writing (each person writes alone alongside colleagues). Interested? Email coordinator Jen Aleman, aleman@tcnj.edu

FACULTY WRITING RETREATS 2025

OGSR sponsors two writing retreats annually, one during winter break and the other during spring break. These writing retreats are especially for those who need protected time and space away from the office and other responsibilities to focus on academic writing. Intentionally timed, the retreats allow faculty not only to get traction on writing projects, but as it fits, to develop ideas and outlines that could provide the foundation for a full proposal. Sign up for one or all days offered.

1/6 – 1/8

WINTER WRITING RETREAT

Monday, January 6, 2025 through Wednesday, January 8, 2025
Breakfast and Lunch Provided. Library Café 9:30AM – 4:30PM

3/18 - 3/19

SPRING BREAK WRITING RETREAT

Tuesday, March 18, 2025 through Wednesday, March 19, 2025
Breakfast and Lunch Provided. Library Café 9:30AM – 4:30PM

4/2

NSF Major Research Instrumentation Program (MRI) Info Session

Join us to learn about applying for the limited MRI submission. The MRI award supports the acquisition of a multi-user research instrument that is commercially available through direct purchase from a vendor, or for the personnel costs and equipment that are required for the development of an instrument with new capabilities, thereby advancing instrumentation capabilities and enhancing expertise for instrument design and fabrication at academic institutions. Noon - 1:00PM, lunch provided.

4/3

NEH Summer Stipends Info Session

The NEH Summer Stipend program supports individuals pursuing advanced research that is of value to humanities scholars, general audiences, or both. This program requires tenured/tenure-track applicants to be nominated by an official on campus. Come learn more about the NEH Summer Stipends program and how to apply. Noon - 1:00PM, lunch provided.
